4. Conditions of Permit

The Service may approve the sale of trout for stocking of ponds and dams, subject to standard conditions.

A permit fee of $93.00, payable to the IFS, is to be paid before this application is assessed.

Note that the IFS only allows authorised person to collect and distribute trout around the State.

If your application is approved, you will need to engage an authorised person to transport the fish. The IFS does not permit individuals to collect their own fish.

The trout may only be purchased from licensed fish farms in Tasmania.

Only triploid trout are permitted for stocking farm dams.

The trout may not be artificially fed.

The trout may only be taken from the stocked water by means of angling under the current regulations and all anglers must be licensed, including the landowner.

The trout may only be taken during the open season, i.e. between the first Saturday in August and the Sunday nearest 30 April.

Your permit allows you to only stock the single water nominated on this application.

Upon receiving the fish the fish farm supplying the fish will sign your letter of approval with numbers and size of fish delivered. You must send this receipted letter back to Inland Fisheries Service for any further stocking application to be considered.

All stockings of farm dams for private fishing remain confidential and will not be published in detail by the Service
